Tri-entity task force short-lived

BY DENA BISNETTE
Federal grant funds for the Hancock County Narcotics Task Force have not been spent and the only arrests made by the group resulted from an investigation initiated several months before the task force existed.

The task force no longer exists.

Subject to approval by the Bay St. Louis City County, Waveland Board of Aldermen and Hancock County Board of Supervisors, local law enforcement heads have disbanded the group less than a month after it was created.

The $24,000 in funds, which was to be matched by the county's three law enforcement agencies, will be returned, said Mark Ohman, deputy chief of the Bay St. Louis Police Department and that organization's representative on the task force.

"It was kind of like a bad marriage," said Hancock County Sheriff Ronald Peterson, whose investigator Glen Strong was head of the force.

Peterson explained that the decision to disband was made Friday after a meeting of almost three hours in which there was "a lot of politics involved" and "some accusations were made against one of the officers."

Peterson said he and Mayor John Longo Jr. had decided that the dissension among task force members was not the result of any problem between the Hancock County Sheriff's Department and Waveland Police Department, and Peterson said he plans to continue working with the Waveland officers he deputized to combat drugs in the area.

The task force was structured with two full-time members, Strong and Ohman, and also used a number of part-time officers whose regular jobs were working for any of the three law enforcement authorities. To give the policemen on the two city forces jurisdiction over drug offenses in the county, Peterson deputized them.

Peterson said he felt problems with Bay St. Louis resulted in "some dissension."

"I feel there was a bad morale problem within the task force," he added.

He said the alleged accusations were made against Strong but did not elaborate on what they were.

"Strong did not feel he could

Rutherford wins special election

BY ELLIS CUEVAS

Bay St. Louis voters elected James J. (Jimmy) Rutherford, 42, councilman-at-large in a run-off election between him and Conrad L. Mauffray, Tuesday.

Charles Gottschalk declared Rutherford, with 641 votes to Mauffray's 570 votes, as the unofficial winner.

The election commissioners met late Wednesday to count some 66 affidavit votes.

The affidavit votes gave Rutherford a total of 678 to Mauffray's 599, and Election Commissioners certified Rutherford as the winner.

Rutherford, along with Mauffray and three others, were seeking to fill a vacancy created with the resignation of Wilmer Seymour, who now serves as Hancock County supervisor for District Four.

In the special election last week, Charles Scianna was elected as councilman of District One to fill the term of Lisa Coward, who was elected as Hancock County supervisor for District Three.

Both probably will be sworn into office next week, according to Edward Favre, city clerk, after paperwork clears the Secretary of State's office.

Scianna and Rutherford joined other city officials Wednesday in Jackson at the Mississippi Municipal Association's annual convention, which continues through Friday.

After his apparent victory Wednesday night, Rutherford said, "I am very pleased with the turnout and support I received. I want to thank the people for their vote of confidence. I also want to thank the other candidates for very well run races."

"I plan to map out some long-range planning for the city; that is what I said I would do in the campaign," Rutherford added.

In commenting about the importance education plays with industry, Rutherford stated, "I intend to work for a progressive education system in this city and to do everything I can to get more jobs in the community."

District Two's ballot box was about one hour later than the other three in being returned to the election commissioners to be counted at city hall.

Gottschalk said poll workers were delayed while they sought to correct a discrepancy between the number of voters' names on the books voters sign and one filled in by the election workers. He indicated the problem was minor and did not affect the vote totals.

Local attorney pushes Vietnam bill passage

BY ELLIS CUEVAS

Bay St. Louis attorney Henry Cook III, chairman for the Mississippi Vietnam Veteran's Memorial Committee, Inc., addressed the Veterans Affairs Committee in Jackson on Wednesday.

Cook discussed a bill introduced by Bay St. Louis Senator Gene Taylor to create "...a Mississippi Vietnam Veteran's Memorial Committee. To authorize the committee to construct and maintain a Vietnam authorize counties and municipalities to expend money out of available funds to contribute the costs of the memorial."

Cook said a 100-year lease has already been received on a section of land at Biloxi's Point Cadet for the memorial's site.

The primary reason for Cook's appearance before the Legislature's Veterans Affairs Committee is to get the state to recognize the proposed Biloxi area as the state's official Mississippi Vietnam Veteran's Memorial and, secondly, to authorize counties and municipalities the authority to make donations to the Memorial's construction.

In December during the Christmas break at Mississippi State University, some 40 architectural students began to work on proposed Memorial designs, Cook said.

The group of students made a presentation of nine models to the Mississippi Vietnam Veterans Memorial Committee last week, Cook said.

Hancock Schools receive money by court ruling

BY D.C. HARVILL

The Hancock County School District is receiving nearly $30,000 after a former superintendent of education, two former school board members and the companies that had issued them surety bonds, lost an appeal stemming from violations in 1981.

The State had brought action against former superintendent Billy Sills and board members

Johnny Banks and Woodrow Ladner for violations of the conflict of interest rule and the "three competitive bid" rule in connection with the letting of an emergency contract to a firm that employed a school board member. It was determined at that time that all three had violated the statutes and were assessed damages and penalties.

The defendants then appealed to the Mississippi Supreme Court.

On appeal, the Court affirmed the $27,784 damage award but remanded to the Chancery Court the assessment of penalties. After an evidentiary hearing, penalties were assessed totalling $29,000.

The district should receive the money within the next two weeks, State Auditor Pete Johnson said.

"The money is already spent. It will go into helping us cover some areas that were not planned into the budget, such as additional teachers we

County's shopping list topped by wreck sites

BY DENA BISNETTE

Southern District Highway Commissioner Ronald Shows has received a shopping list from Hancock County that includes our worst highway problems as well as a road the board has been trying to pave for years.

Shows, who took over the post about two months ago, visited the county Tuesday to confer with board members about paving Texas Flat Road and was given a number of other problems to consider.

The board has been trying to get funding for the paving of Texas Flat Road, which provides access to Stennis Space Center from the Highway 603 area and could be a possible escape route in case of disaster. The board hopes to get some funds for the road through pending legislation that would increase the amount of monies available under the Economic Development Highway Act.

On top of the list of other items is an intersection at US-90 and Highway 607 in Pearlinton.

Board President Ronald Cuevas, who is a Pearlinton resident and operates a business there, explained that the intersection has been the site of at least five fatalities, to his knowledge, during the last 10 years.

The most recent accident was one involving a tractor-trailer rig last week, but was not a fatality, Cuevas stated.

The structure of Highway 607 is a sharp curve to the north, then the access to US-90. At the place where the old highway was located prior to the four-laning, there is an old culvert and a steep ditch.

The grade is so steep that a woman and her daughter actually drowned in one of the fatalities at the intersection when their car went into the water-filled ditch.

"People just miss the curve," Cuevas said, explaining that the cars then hit the old culvert and bounce off it into the ditch.

He added that there is no lighting at the intersection.

"These aren't just people who aren't aware of it. These are local people who know it's there," Cuevas said.

The supervisors asked Shows to send a state highway department

Board still wants Texas Flat Road rebuilding funds

BY DENA BISNETTE

The county is giving Texas Flat Road another shot.

The board of supervisors has been trying to get the road paved for several years, but can't afford to do so. So far, efforts to obtain funding through other channels have been unproductive.

The board has a new hope in pending legislation that could increase the monies available under the Economic Development Highway Act by $100 million.

The supervisors and County Engineer Larry Seal met with representatives of the Governor's Office of State and Federal Programs Tuesday to discuss a $1.3 million request for a Community Development Block Grant.

In addition, they discussed the project with Ronald Shows, who recently took over as Southern District highway commissioner.

The road is presently mostly surfaced with gravel, except for a small section of blacktop between Highway 603 and the entrance to McLeod Water Park.

According to Seal, however, the road was apparently paved at one time. The age of the road is not known, but Seal has found that it was originally known as Three-Notch Way and

DRUG ARRESTS

Two Waveland residents have been arrested in connection with sale of marijuana. Hancock County Sheriff's Investigator Glen Strong said Paul J. Williams, 25, and Jo Anne Williams, 36, both of Lot 10, Midway Trailer Park, US-90, Waveland, were arrested Saturday.

They were charged with sale of a controlled substance. Both were released on $5,000 bond.

Strong said the arrests were the result of a joint investigation by the Hancock County Sheriff's Department and Waveland Police Department, which is continuing with Strong in charge.

Assisting Strong were Deputy Harold Heine and Patrolmen Gene Morant, Lamar Jones and Kent Malley of Waveland Police Department.

Authorities seized one pound of marijuana and a vehicle used in the alleged sale, Strong added.

State gives thumbs up to Bay water

BY D.C. HARVILL

A clean supply of freshwater is absolutely essential to good health, yet it is often taken for granted.

Drinking water supplies across the country are continually threatened by contaminants, ranging from sewage to industrial toxins, requiring routine monitoring to protect the public from the hazard.

Tests conducted recently by the Mississippi Department of Health, indicate that Bay St. Louis' public water supply is free of contaminants.

Tests conducted on public water supplies check for bacteria, heavy metals (lead, mercury, etc.), radiological components and volatile organic materials (used as industrial solvents).

ON ETV

MOUNTAIN GOATS
The cloud-scraping Rocky Mountains are a source of immense natural power, shaping winds and weather. Up close, they become a realm of towering rocks, sheer cliffs and melting snows, an environment inhospitable to most forms of life.

What creature could survive in such a vertical world and claim the title of 'king of the mountain'? Surprisingly it's the Rocky Mountain Goat, and the dramatic story of this mountain climber is told in 'cliffhangers,' the season premiere of 'Wild America,' at 7 p.m., Saturday, Jan. 28, on Mississippi ETV.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Rewards of volunteering with children are many

To the Editor:
As director of 'Project Grandpa' I want to thank you for your coverage of our activities in The Sea Coast Echo.

Through your support we now have 20 grandpas—and, hopefully, we will continue to grow.

Our goal is to become one of the 'thousand points of light' that President George Bush speaks of when he encourages us to become volunteers in our local communities.

Being 'grandpas' at Headstart and at the Child Development Center in Bay St. Louis is an exciting and rewarding experience.

The little children open their hearts to us—and then steal ours. We are looking forward to having more volunteers to include the Methodist Children's Center in our program.

EYES ON MISSISSIPPI

By Bill Minor

Dye's lack of timely processing kills many bills

Lt. Gov. Brad Dye seems to have found his own way of pigeon-holing bills in the Senate, as if there weren't already enough obstacles for measures to struggle through the legislative maze.

Last week, Dye let almost 400 bills that had been introduced at the Jan. 16 deadline sit on his desk practically all week before he referred them to committees.

By the time Dye released the stack of 355 bills and 11 constitutional amendments at the beginning of Friday's Senate session, there were only eight working days left for committees to study and act on the measures.

In effect, the logjam created by Dye's failure to speedily refer the bills to committees could make it virtually impossible for many of the bills to survive the Jan. 31 deadline for Senate committee action.

The lieutenant governor's power to refer bills to committee was one of the issues raised in a constitutional test brought by two members of the Senate in state court two years ago. In a split decision, the state Supreme Court had held it was constitutional for Senate rules to grant legislative powers to the lieutenant governor.

One Senator who last year led an unsuccessful move to change the Senate rules and strip Dye of powers in the legislative process contended after the bill-referral fiasco that it was a calculated move by Dye to tighten his control over legislation.

"This makes a total farce out of the Senate's ability to deliberately and orderly consider legislation," charged Sen. Robert Crook of Ruleville, the senior member of the Mississippi upper chamber.

"Now we've got only one week to sort out all of these bills, some of which are going to require hearings and detailed study," Crook contended.

"This defeats the purpose of the deadline schedule and gives the lieutenant governor total control of the flow of legislation," he added. Crook charged that because of the crunch, Dye can now use his influence over his key lieutenants who head committees to approve "only the bills he wants passed."

The veteran Ruleville lawmaker, who chairs the Senate Corrections Committee, said that the Senate legislative draftsmen had worked all day Saturday and Sunday before the Monday bill introduction deadline in order to fill all bill requests.

"It's my information that by 7 p.m. on Monday night, the draftsmen had all the bills ready for introduction, and on Dye's desk. But that's where they sat for the rest of the week," Crook said.

He recalled that when William Winter was lieutenant governor and a similar crush of bills came on deadline, "Winter stayed up there and referred every bill that night so they could be processed."

A story made the rounds of the Senate last week that on the night of the bill introduction deadline Dye and a couple of his Senate cronies had been the guests of a group of utility lobbyists at a suburban steak house and the tab had run over $500.

Several dozen of the bills which Dye finally released were given "double referrals," that is, assigned to two committees rather than one. This is a tactic perfected by the former Speaker of the House, Buddie Newman to make it more difficult for certain bills to get past the committee stage.

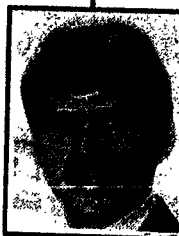

Crook noted that several of his bills in a package of corrections measures had been given double referrals.

"It's difficult enough to get a bill out of one committee, much less two," Crook said.

"After we go to the effort of introducing bills in behalf of our constituents and the lieutenant governor doesn't show us enough respect to refer them makes a joke out of all of us in the Senate," the angry lawmaker declared.

REPORT FROM THE SENATE

By Senator
Gene Taylor

By SENATOR
GENE TAYLOR

This past week brought the deadline for introduction of all bills of a general nature and proposed constitutional amendments. More than 800 bills were introduced in the Senate and must be passed out of the committee or committees to which they are assigned by Jan. 31 if they are to continue in the process on their way toward becoming law.

Before listing some of the bills which may be considered by committees during the coming days, I would like to report on the following bills which received approval by the Senate during the week and are now on their way to the House of Representatives for consideration.

* Another in the series of "tort reform" bills which amend our civil justice laws, this bill dealing with medical malpractice. The bill sets up a screening panel which would review complaints against health care providers, but this does not preclude patients from filing a lawsuit.

The bill also limits the award for noneconomic damages (pain, suffering, inconvenience, mental anguish, emotional distress, injury to reputation, disfigurement, humiliation, etc.) to $350,000.

* A bill moving the date of the first primary election in general election years from the first Tuesday after the first Monday in August to the third Tuesday in September. The second primary would be three weeks later.

The intent is to shorten the election campaigning time and to allow more time to draw new voting districts in 1991 after the 1990 census data is received.

* A bill to increase the payment for jurors from $15 to $40 per day. The bill also requires counties to install an answering machine on which messages would be recorded notifying jurors if they are needed in court the next day.

The intent is to save money by not having to pay jurors for showing up and not being needed. This is a good service already in effect here in Hancock County, and this bill would require this to be done statewide.

HOMETOWN NEWS From The Capitol City

By Mississippi

The Mississippi House voted to make automobile liability insurance compulsory this week.

Rep. Compretta voted with the majority in voting for a bill that establishes a $500 fine for people who falsely claim to have car insurance. Similar bills have passed the House several times only to die in the Senate.

By unanimous vote, the Senate approved a measure that would limit part of the amount of damages in medical malpractice suits. This bill is part of a package of tort reform bills that are being pushed by the state's business, insurance and medical industries.

There were relatively few floor votes this week, with much of the work being done in committees.

Gov. Ray Mabus plan to close state-run charity hospitals in Meridian, Vicksburg and Laurel suffered a blow when it lost a narrow vote in a Senate committee. Mabus' legislative leaders now label their effort a long shot.

Mabus wants to transfer $6.3 million from the hospitals to the state Medicaid system where it could be used by poor patients throughout the state. Opponents say the charity hospitals serve people who don't qualify for either Medicaid or health insurance.

Among other committee proposals that will be considered soon is one requiring residential children's homes to register with the state and another measure allowing counties to cooperate to provide

The following are some of the bills which have been introduced in the Senate and may come up for consideration in committees this week:

* S. B. No. 2006: Shopping centers must provide public rest room facilities.

* S. B. No. 2007: Establish school bus safety bar pilot program.

* S. B. No. 2029: Registrars must conduct a new voter registration within two years after each federal 10-year census.

* S. B. No. 2044: Increase the penalties for theft of a U.S. or Mississippi flag.

* S. B. No. 2154: Provide a penalty for the negligent injuring or killing of a person while hunting.

* S. B. No. 2167: Authorize school districts to use school facilities for child care programs.

* S. B. No. 2172: Establish Mississippi War Veterans Cemetery.

* S. B. No. 2222: Require a sentence of life without parole for certain drug sales.

* S. B. No. 2291: Require drug test for certain early release felons.

* S. B. No. 2396: Elected officials must take a leave of absence without pay before qualifying to run for other office.

* S. B. No. 2412: Public officials will be removed from office for felony conviction.

* S. B. No. 2459: Prohibit smoking in public buildings.

* S. B. No. 2472: Repeal Motor Vehicle Safety Inspection Law.

I would be glad to hear your comments on any legislation during the year, and you may write to me at the Mississippi State Senate, P.O. Box 1018, Jackson, Mississippi 39215 or call 359-3770 and I will return your call as soon as possible.

WASHINGTON REPORT

From The Office of
Senator Thad Cochran

Cochran appointments

Senator Thad Cochran is scheduled to serve on Senate panels dealing with education, senior citizens and labor issues during the 101st Congress.

The senator was informed by Senator Orrin Hatch (R-Utah), ranking member of the Senate Labor and Human Resources Committee, of his subcommittee assignments for the 1989 and 1990 sessions.

During the 100th Congress, Cochran served as the ranking Republican on the Aging Subcommittee, a post to which he has been reassigned for the 1989 and 1990 sessions. Programs implemented under the Older Americans Act are overseen by this panel.

In addition to this assignment, Cochran will be a member of the Education Subcommittee which has legislative jurisdiction over a wide range of educational programs.

In 1989, the Education Subcommittee will be responsible for reauthorizing the Vocational Education Act of 1965 and will also study ways to lower the rising number of defaults on student college loans.

As a member of the Labor Subcommittee, Senator Cochran will monitor and draft legislation which affects the nation's labor and business force.

"These are important subcommittees which have oversight on programs and legislation directly affecting thousands of Mississippians. I am pleased to have the opportunity to serve on these panels on behalf of our state, and will look forward to working with educators, senior citizen advocates, and business and labor leaders to ensure that legislation passed in Washington reflects the needs of our state," Cochran said.

COOKING UP A STORM

By Katy McGuire
Caire

A baked ham is one of my favorite answers to the "what's for dinner?" question, however small the family gathered 'round the table—and it's a boon and a bonus even for couples and "live-aloners"—for there's so much more for your efforts. And, easy on the cook, also, for it all but cooks itself, doesn't it? And, after you've enjoyed the succulent ham, there are many variations on the culinary theme for making tasty use of the leftovers.

Here's one of my "easy-does-it" favorites, using the butt end of a fully cooked ham. Here's:

BAKED HAM BUTT WITH SWEET POTATOES AND ONIONS

4 1/2 to 5 lb. fully-cooked ham, butt end

1 1/2 to 2 lb. sweet potatoes (peeled and sliced 1/2 inch thick)

Several (7 to 8) medium onions (peeled and parboiled)

1 bottle ginger ale (10 oz.)

1/2 cut orange marmalade

Butter or margarine

Preheat oven to 350 degrees.

Place ham in roasting pan, without the rack, and arrange the potato slices and the onions around the ham, then pour the ginger ale over.

Bake, uncovered, for an hour, basting halfway through with the pan juices, then turn the potatoes and onions over.

Spread half the marmalade over the ham, and bake for an additional half hour.

Spread the remainder of the marmalade over the ham, and bake for still another half hour, basting frequently, until the potatoes and onions are tender.

Arrange the whole business on a platter, spoon some of the pan juices over, and dot the potatoes with butter or margarine. (8 to 10 servings).

I have often substituted white wine for the ginger ale, or even bourbon or burgundy wine, though, of course, in lesser quantity, say a cupful and added water if needed.

And, after you've enjoyed the baked ham dinner, there's always ham left over for sandwiches, for omelets, for fried rice with ham, for seasoning, for so many things—and let's not forget what a ham bone with lots of ham still on it does for a pot of red beans—and there's always split pea soup!

If you don't wish to cook that much ham, bake a thick ham slice the same way—I think you'll like it, even if you're cooking just for yourself!

Road

is believed to have been laid out by General Andrew Jackson's engineers around the time of the Battle of New Orleans.

The unusual name comes from the marks the engineers used to lay out the road, he said. The road serves as an access-way from Highway 603 to Highway 607, ending only about 200 yards from the north gate of Stennis Space Center.

Rebuilding the road, currently not passable in bad weather, would be an expensive proposition because the road is wide enough in most places for two 12-foot lanes with six-foot shoulders, would have to support a minimum of 80,000 pounds to accommodate trucks from the Space Center to Stennis Industrial Airpark, and has one railroad spur that would have to be outfitted for hazardous material transport, Seal explained.

Bridges would have to be replaced and the present drainage system is inadequate.

However, the board believes the work will be well worth whatever it costs. Current estimates are about $4.1 million.

According to Board President Ronald Cuevas, two new projects at the Space Center, the Advanced Solid Rocket Motor and the Advanced Launch System, are expected to create about 1,000 construction jobs and 600 permanent jobs.

In the event of a disaster at the locks on the south end of the space center or impending bad weather, the road could double as an escape route in addition to serving as a personnel route on a daily basis.

Cuevas also told Shows that he thinks that the airpark, recently reclassified as a true industrial park when water and sewerage systems were completed, can also benefit from the road.

"We feel we could generate significant air traffic from this facility if we had a good access for them," Cuevas said, referring to the agencies at the space center.

Shows said he will look into the matter to see if Texas Flat Road falls under the Economic Development Highway Act specifications.

Seal said as far as he has been able to determine, the road has never been part of any federal, state or urban highway funding system. In addition, it apparently failed to meet the criteria for a Department of Defense program that turned down funding after the previous county administration tried to get monies based on the road's use as a route for employees of the Mississippi Army Ammunition Plant.

ON ETV

TAX TIPS

"Tax Tips on Tape," the series designed to answer specific income tax questions, concludes on Mississippi ETV Saturday, Jan. 28, at noon.

The targeted taxpayers featured this week are medical personnel, day care providers, children with income and a repeat of the segment for farmers.

that grass along the state highways be cut more frequently and that a turning bay on US-90 in front of Hancock Medical Center receive some cosmetic improvements to make its appearance more in keeping with that of the hospital facility.

Shows also provided the board a progress report on the Highway 603 four-laning project, which will widen the road from US-90 to Stennis Airpark.

Right-of-way acquisition for the first seven miles begins in June and should take about a year if there is no unforeseen litigation involved.

Work on grading, bridges and drainage should begin in July 1990, with paving scheduled for July 1992.

State Representative J.P. Compretta, who had independently asked Shows' office for a report on the project Monday, stated that he is "pleased to see work progressing on the widening of Highway 603."

In last year's legislative session, Compretta was a major force behind extending the project to Stennis Airpark, based on the construction of a new school adjacent to that facility.

Water

throughout Mississippi are tested monthly for bacterial contamination and are tested once each three years for other contaminants, according to David Mitchell, assistant director of the Department of Health's Division of Water Supply.

Drinking water most often becomes contaminated, Mitchell said, because improperly disposed off waste seeps into the ground water supply.

Most public water systems in Mississippi depend on ground water, according to Mitchell.

In the last year, Bay St. Louis has spent $700 thousand to improve its public water system, according to city Maintenance Superintendent Norbert Redmond.

Among the improvements was a looping project, in which all deadend water lines were tied into other lines. After the looping, water circulates instead of standing in the lines, improving water quality.

Other improvements include the installation of a new thousand-gallon per minute well with complete auxiliary diesel power.

"The water system is in great shape," Redmond said. The monthly tests conducted on the city's water are based on nine samples taken throughout the city.

"The test results have been consistently good," Redmond said.

The fact that the tests conducted by the state indicate no contaminants does not necessarily mean the water is free of all contaminants, however. The test only prove that the water is free of materials tested for.

The Environmental Protection Agency recently determined that additional test need to be done on Mississippi drinking water.

In June of this year, the list of contaminants will be expanded and an additional 25 substances will be added to the list every three years thereafter.

The State Department of Health had been testing public water supplies free of charge but, because of the additional tests required by the new EPA regulations, a fee is now charged.

Bay St. Louis' fee for its latest tests was $3,500 but will probably be less next year, Mitchell said.

Task Force

function properly under the conditions that existed," the sheriff stated Wednesday.

"I feel like when you've got three different entities, it does cause a problem. You need just one person in charge of a task force to make it work."

Ohman, speaking for the Bay St. Louis Police Department, said he had made no accusations against Strong but had merely questioned some of his actions.

He also said he had never had any difficulties with the Waveland patrolmen and the deputies on the task force.

"The issue at hand stemmed from a question about an action on the part of a task force member, not passing judgement, but just asking for an answer," he said, explaining that the chiefs of each department "are responsible to direct and correct issues."

"Apparently the question was received with great animosity on the part of the sheriff. He demanded his commissions back from the Bay St. Louis Police Department. This left the city administration with the understanding that Bay St. Louis did not have the right to question acts of Hancock County Sheriff's Office personnel assigned to the task force," Ohman stated.

"Bringing the issue up has been interpreted by the sheriff as an act of dissension on the part of Bay St. Louis," he continued, stressing that the issue is the right to question and not the task force member involved. "This set the stage for the personality conflict, which we feel does not exist."

"Our city would like to see the task force work for the citizens of Hancock County, Waveland and Bay St. Louis," Ohman said, concluding his statement by thanking the officers of all three agencies for their cooperation.

He added a personal apology to the public "that the task force didn't work out."

Ohman had originated the proposal for the task force and had pushed it through several state agencies until it was funded. While the $24,000 was below the expected funding level, which would have provided for a full-time agent from each law enforcement authority, Ohman and others still felt the task force had potential for fighting the local drug problem.

Donald Dorn, chief of Waveland Police Department, which finally joined the task force after difficulty in naming a representative during organizational stages, explained that a police force coping with various other types of crime simply can not work as effectively against drugs as a task force devoted to drug enforcement alone.

He said he would be willing to try again in the future if another grant could be obtained and differences could be worked out.

ment engineer to look at the intersection and try to determine whether or not the structure is properly designed.

Shows said he thinks the intersection has already been checked and does not have a design flaw, but said he wants to arrange a meeting between County Engineer Larry Seal and one of the highway department's top-ranking engineers, Joe Davis, about the intersection and other matters.

Cuevas said he wants them to consider the possibility of putting in a culvert and filling in the ditch, since the ditch usually plays a major part in the accidents.

"The penalty for not obeying a sign should not be death," the board president said.

The board also asked for a flashing caution light at the intersection of Highway 604 and US-90, where traffic meets from three directions.

Cuevas said there had been some serious accidents there as well, but that no feasibility study on whether a light would help the problem has ever been done.

Shows said he thought a regular traffic signal might work better, because local drivers tend "to get used to the caution lights and ignore them."

The board also requested

Dear Editor,

As Christian pastors we have had a number of questions asked concerning occultic practices and Satanism. To try to help our community understand these matters and to warn of the dangers involved, the Bay St. Louis-Waveland Ministerial Association will be addressing these issues, as well as other issues, in the months to come. ### SATANIC SYMBOLS: THE GOAT'S HEAD

There has been a lot of interest, lately (both on a local and national level), in Satanic worship and related Satanic crime. Trying to cover all the facets of these topics in one article would be a nearly impossible task. However, one area that needs to be addressed is the symbolism of Satanic worship.

In all forms of worship there are symbols associated with them. Satanic worship is no exception to this principle.

There are many symbols associated with Satanic worship and all can be contrasted with symbols or principles of Christianity. One of the more predominant symbols of Satan is the goat's head. Especially when inscribed within a circle or a pentagram.

In chapter 16 of the book of Leviticus, the children of Israel were instructed to take two goats; one to be used as a sin offering, the other to be the "scapegoat."

The "scapegoat" would symbolically take the sins of the people out into the wilderness and away from the people. There is a correlation between the symbol of a goat and the presence of sin (unGodly activity).

Throughout the centuries, the goat has been related to Satanic worship because it is the antithesis of the "Lamb of God" or the "Passover Lamb."

The "Passover Lamb" or the "Lamb of God" is the symbol for Jesus. The Bible refers to Jesus as the "Lamb" no less than 30 times.

The "Lamb" in Christianity represents the forgiveness of sin and freedom from its curse. The "scapegoat" represented retained sin. In Satanic symbolism, the goat represents Satan.

The symbolism intensifies when the goat's head is imposed on a circle or pentagram. The circle is a universal symbol for eternity, thereby representing Satan as having always been in existence.

This is an attack at the very basis of Christianity—that all creatures and beings were and are created by God. When the goat's head is placed in a pentagram it takes on even greater significance.

To understand the depth of this, it is essential to look into the meaning of the number "5" and the pentagram.

The number "5" in Christianity represents God's grace. Five is symbolic of the five bleeding wounds of Jesus (both hands, both feet, and His side).

Each of these wounds symbolically answering the five "I will" statements of Lucifer (Satan) when he rebelled against God (Isaiah 14:12-14).

There are also five ministry gifts (apostles, prophets, evangelists, pastors and teachers) given to the church (Ephesians 4:11).

When the goat's head is imposed over the pentagram, it speaks of Satanic dominance over the grace of God and the ministry of the church. Nothing could be further from the truth!

It is interesting to note that a counterfeit can only exist if there is a reality. It is impossible to counterfeit a $7 bill because there are no real $7 bills. The symbols of Satanic worship are the counterfeits of the reality of the gospel of Jesus Christ.

A design committee has already been named by the organization and the models are scheduled to be on display in the rotunda of the Capitol on Feb. 16.

The monument is expected to cost $500,000 and the organization expects it to be completed by Veterans Day, Nov. 11, 1991.

A full-time fund raising chairperson is expected to be named in March after the selection of a design and cost estimates are received.

The monument's construction should begin within a year, Cook said.

Biloxi Mayor Gerald Blessey was also scheduled to appear before the committee on behalf of the special Senate Bill 2576, which has also been introduced in the House.

SECTION B

THE SEA COAST ECHO—THURSDAY, JANUARY 26, 1989-1B

Bay Area Youth Soccer Assn. second week standings listed

Bay Area Youth Soccer has completed the second week of the spring season. High winds dried up the standing water on the soccer fields, so the teams were able to play under good conditions.

Under-12

In Under-12, Coach Ronnie LaFontaine's Hurricane team has won their second game of the season, defeating the Burger King Whopper team by a score of 3-1.

The Hurricanes remain undefeated and in first place after two weeks.

Under-10

In Under-10 play, Coach

Flowers' Rotary Falcons defeated Coach Demboski's Gulf Coast Fabrication Jaguar team by a score of 3-0. Forwards Paul Campo, Jason Chiniche and David Flowers each scored a goal.

Mark Gagnon was named most improved player for the game and Beau Develle was named best defensive player.

Craig Foster's Charles H. Johnson Inc. Bay Rats team defeated coach Jerry Peoples' Bad Blues by a score of 4-1. The Bay Rats played a much improved game.

Brantley Ladner led the scoring with two goals and Jeffrey Cicerchi and Paul Monti scored one goal each. Coach Foster also commended goalkeeper Chris Foster and fullback Chris Gibson for their efforts.

Under-8

In Under-8 play, Coach Steve Carver's Sweepers defeated Coach Christine Ross' Raiders by a score of 5-0. Dusty Carver scored two goals, Ronnie Vanie scored three goals and Steve Peterman assisted in a goal of the Sweepers in fine team play with excellent passing.

Coach Timmy Kingston's Chargers tied Coach Jimmy

Rutherford's Stingers by a score of 2-2. Coach Mike Carron's Tornados defeated Coach Bill Ginn's Wildcats by a score of 2-0.

Officially, the score will be reported as 3-0 since in reality it was a default game, due to the Wildcats' having only five players for the game. The minimum number of players fielded in the Under-8 age group is six.

Both Under-14 boys also won their games in morning play at the Seminary Field. The Under-14 girls lost their home game to Ocean Springs in afternoon play.

Lady Hawks win invitational

The Hancock North Central Lady Hawks came out on top in the recent Pearl River Central Invitational Basketball Tournament in Carriere.

The Lady Hawks, along with the Poplarville Hornets who took the boys' title, remained undefeated and walked away with the tournament titles.

In the last game, the ladies netted a 63-44 win over local rival Bay High, improving their season record to 19-2.

Jill Forrest led her team with 21 points, all of which she scored in the first three quarters of the game. Greta Ladner followed with 12.

The Lady Hawks had a total winning point margin of 17 for the event.

PRC Lady Wildcats capture division wins

For most Pearl River Community College students mid terms are still several weeks in the future, but the women's basketball team will be facing an important test this week all the same.

The Lady Wildcats have a 10-8 record overall, and are only fourth in the South Division with a 3-4 record, but last week coach Polly Kirkland saw some signs that the team may be starting to peak.

The Lady Cats picked up two important division wins last week, dropping Jones 97-64 and East Central 91-65 in home contests.

"Last week we looked real good," Kirkland said, pointing out almost every player had an outstanding game in one or both of the contests.

In the Jones game Charzes Silas was 18-22 from the floor on her way to scoring 36 points. She also pulled down 11 rebounds. In that same game Mary "Cocoa" Henry scored 18 points, hitting 9 of her 11 shots from the floor. She was also good for 16 assists.

Against East Central Mary Arvel was 11-15 from the floor and scored 23 points, while Henry scored 17 points and picked up eight steals.

"We had more balanced scoring than we've had all year," Kirkland said.

She said the team also played better defense than it had been holding opponents in the 60-point range, rather than the 80 or 90 points they had been allowing since the Christmas break.

Kirkland said the team seems to be peaking at the right time of year with the division tournament only three weeks away, but this week's games will be a major test for the squad.

The Lady Cats fall to Tuesday's opponent Pensacola 72-68 on the road earlier this season, and they will face division foe Copiah-Lincoln on the road Thursday.

SSC basketball game features 'athletic' alumni

Thirty-one alumni returned to play or to watch the 1st Annual SSC Alumni Basketball game held before the SSC-East Central Varsity contest last Friday.

Curtis St. Mary, 1970 graduate who had an outstanding collegiate career at McNeese State, led all scorers with 21 points.

All alumni attending greatly enjoyed the reunion, including former head coach Bob Cuccaro who now coaches at Long Beach.

In the varsity contest, the Rock-A-Chaws had little difficulty in winning their 17th game of the season over East Central by a score of 73-41. Pacing the Rocks were Shannon Garrett with 20 points and Chris Perrone with 21 points.

All 11 players scored for the Rocks, with Bert Dean adding eight points while Craig Swee-ney had six points.

The Rocks jumped out to a 22-10 lead, and increased their lead to 45-24 at halftime. The win gave the Rocks a 7-1 district record, putting them in second place behind George County.

St. Stanislaus hosts Invitational Tournament January 26-28

Several top high school basketball teams will invade the Rock-A-Chaw gymnasium beginning Thursday evening for the 1st Annual Invitational SSC Basketball Tournament which will be held Jan. 26-28.

Teams that will be participating include Pascagoula, Stone County, Picayune, Bay High, Gulf Breeze, Fla., and St. Stanislaus.

Coach David Lipscomb's Pascagoula Panthers are rated as pre-tournament favorites. The Panthers are a Division 5A school, where they were runners-up to Gulfport last season. They are presently 14-8, and are led by guards Noel Bilbo (5'11") and 6'0" sophomore Chet Turner. Forwards include two 6'5" seniors Anthony Clark and Thomas Jones. Sophomore center, 6'7" Jay Walton rounds out the lineup.

The Panthers expect a serious challenge from 3A powerhouse Stone County. Coach Ricky Steve's club is 14-5 and defeated Pascagoula when they played last week. They are led by a massive front line featuring 6'10" sophomore Deshawn Wilson and 6'5" Jonathan Brown. Freshman Marcus Hinton at 6'6" adds rebounding strength, while 5'9" senior playmaker Donatar Galloway directs the offense.

Picayune brings in a young squad to the tournament. Coach Dean Shaw has five sophomores, five juniors and senior Juan Aultman. The inside game is provided by 6'4" Charles Parker and 6'4" Kirby Fortenberry.

Picayune and Stone will tangle in the first game of the tournament Thursday evening at 7 p.m., followed by Bay High vs. Pascagoula at 8:30 p.m.

Coach Mike Ladner's Bay High Tigers are led by 6'4" junior Cedric Walker and 6'5" Freddie Necaie. The outside game includes 5'9" sophomore Mike Sharp and 5'11" Will Seymour.

The Gulf Breeze, Fla. Dolphins of Coach Ken Owens are 9-4 this season, and feature 6'1" senior Benji Woods and 6'3" senior Tom Baker. Athletic Director Sylvan Ladner is a Bay St. Louis native.

Rounding out the field are the 17-4 St. Stanislaus Rock-A-Chaws of Coach Chuck Genin.

The Rocks are led by 5'11" junior Shannon Garrett (21 points per game) and 6'2" Chris Perrone (14 points per game). Playmaker Greg Schruoff has an eight-point-per-game average and seven assists per contest. Senior forwards Chad Matthews at 6'4" and Bert Dean at 6'2" give the Rock-A-Chaws good rebounding power. The Rocks are young with only three seniors on its 11-man squad.

"We're hoping the community will come out and support this tournament so we can continue it on a yearly basis. We've tried to get some of the better teams in our area to make it an exciting tournament," said Athletic Director Jerry Spell.

PRC spring workouts underway

Pearl River Community College's football team got its spring workouts underway last week by returning to the weight room.

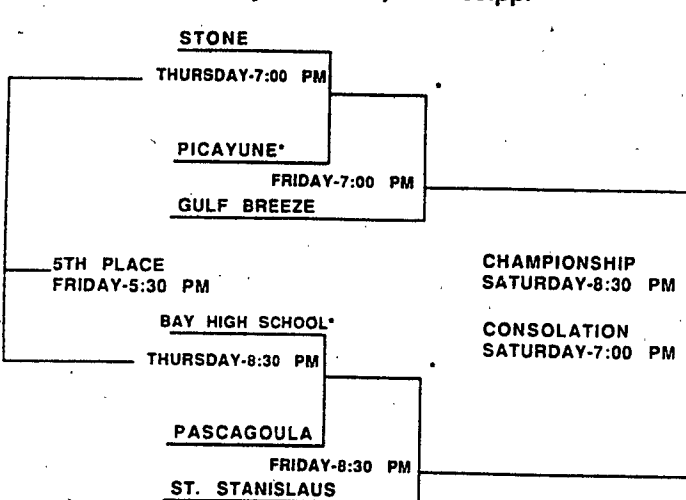

The Wildcats will be practicing Mondays, Tuesdays and Wednesdays this spring until March 9, in preparation for the 1989 football season.

With only 14 sophomores leaving from this year's team, which posted a 6-3-1 record, head coach Mike Nelson said the team will have 50 players involved in the drills.

He added his staff will be paying special attention to working with the offensive line during the practices.

CEHS Lady Raiders defeat Lady Eagles

The Coast Episcopal High School Lady Raiders defeated the Reserve Lady Eagles 25-24 on Wednesday, Jan. 18 in Reserve, La.

Junior Ginny Edwards pumped in 8 points including the game winning basket. Eighth grader Megan Uram added 8 more points for CEHS.

Freshmen Blair Shellnut and Krystal Bulsophomore Leanne Stafford and junior Jennifer Burkett all contributed defensively by controlling both the offensive and defensive boards.

Freshman Candace Payne's ball handling proved too much for the Reserve Eagles as she easily found the open shooter.

The Lady Raiders return to Reserve on Jan. 27. They play their last home game Jan. 30 at the Long Beach Middle School gym.

Artigues, Weems, Logan, Laneaux start for PRC

Last season the Pearl River Community College baseball team made a pretty good showing, and head coach Jim Nightengale said he thinks the ingredients are there for the Wildcats to do even better during his second year at the helm.

In 1988 the Wildcats put together a 25-13 record, going all the way to the Region 23 tournament, and this year the lineup will include as many as seven starters from that group.

"That's why I'll feel a little more confident in the close ball games," Nightengale said.

While having experienced players is always important, Nightengale said it is especially important in the community college ranks.

"The first year they are trying to feel their way through it," he said, pointing out that for many players it is their first time away from home, and they are having to adjust to a new baseball program.

But the experience of going to the playoffs last season should give the Cats an added boost this spring. "I'm hoping that is going to carry over," Nightengale said.

Among those returning this season will be Jay Artigues of Bay St. Louis, who is listed as the starter at second base. As a freshman Artigues lead the team with a .414 average and 18 stolen bases.

Nightengale said that Artigues' team-leading 37 walks last season is another indication of his importance to the squad's offense, which was a powerful weapon.

As the team the Cats hit .342 and scored 342 runs.

He said he will be counting on catcher Mike Weems of Bay St. Louis to provide the power. Last season Weems was tied for the team lead with six homeruns and was second in RBIs with 31.

"We've got some people who can swing the bat," Nightengale said. The question he said will be how the pitching corps works out. Last season the Cats had trouble putting opponents away in the late innings.

This spring he will be counting on Bobby Jackson of Old Town, Minn. and Jesse Logan of Bay St. Louis to be his stoppers.

He added that Jackson was probably his best all-around, capable of playing almost any defensive position. He also hit .346 last season.

Nightengale is also hoping the addition of Jimmy Agent, an all-state player from Oak Grove, and Todd Bergeron, an all-district player from Central High School of Baton Rouge, will help shore-up the staff.

On defense, Brian Laneaux of Bay St. Louis and Ty Henry of Baton Rouge are expected to share time at first base, Jimmy Miller of Purvis splits time at third with Jackson.

Freshman Martin Poche of Baton Rouge is expected to start at shortstop to round out the infield.

Nightengale said the team looked good in fall scrimmages against junior college squads as well as against teams from four-year schools.

Bassin' with the pros

Spoon jiggling for winter bass

If it's wintertime, then it must be spoon-jiggling time for bass.

That's the opinion of Jack Chancellor, winner of the 1985 Bass Masters Classic and a member of the Johnson Outboards Pro Staff. Chancellor uses the shiny lead lures year-round, and nearly won the 1982 Classic with them, but he really prefers to use them when the weather turns cold.

"It's so effective in winter because that's when bass tend to gather in the largest schools of the year. You can literally catch bass as long as you can keep a spoon in front of them."

Chancellor demonstrated just how quick a spoon works during the 1982 Bass Masters Classic on the Alabama River in Montgomery, Ala. He located a school of bass holding along the edge of a sand bar and caught a limit of 10 in just seven minutes, a catch that propelled him into second place overall for the contest.

The Johnson Outboards pro prefers to position his boat in deeper water and make short underhand pitch-casts ahead of him into shallower depths. He lets the spoon sink completely to the bottom, then hops it hard by snapping his rod tip with a quick wrist movement.

Then, when the spoon is falling again, Chancellor lowers his rod at the same rate so the spoon drops on a tight line. This allows him to feel strikes better, since nearly all strikes will come as the spoon falls.

"It's important to keep your rod tip fairly low and pointed to the water when you're jigging and hopping the spoon," says Chancellor. "This allows you to set the hook immediately. If your rod tip is pointed up, you can't set the hook."

"Sometimes the way you jig a spoon makes a difference on the number of strikes you receive," says the Johnson Outboards staffer. "Normally, I jig the lure hard so it jumps up from the bottom, but there are times when the bass don't want the lure moving quite so fast."

"Experiment with your jigging speeds until you find something the fish will hit, then remember it and keep using it."

Bulletin board: "Project Grandpa" on the grow; Headstart Center now included

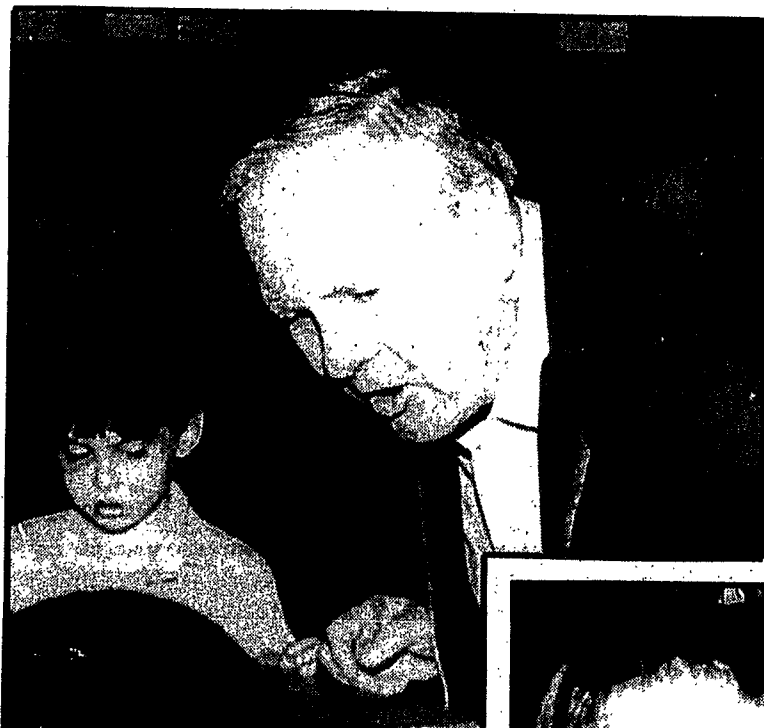

Every Thursday morning a group of retired men occupy tiny chairs amidst the preschoolers at the Bay-Waveland Headstart Center. They are known to one and all as "Grandpas".

Some are grandpas many times over—Frank Lagarde has 15 grandchildren and Gerald Spotorno has 17—while others have none. All are there as generic grandpas to bring a little knowledge and a lot of joy to eager clusters of three and four-year-olds.

Teacher Judy Tate remarks that the children "can't wait till Thursday" and anxiously await the hour-long visits. Center director Glendell Hall commended the volunteer efforts, and said that the teachers, as

New varieties offered for curious gardeners

By Dr. Milo Burnham
Horticulturist
Mississippi Cooperative
Extension Service

A standing New Year's resolution for many gardeners is to try at least one new plant or a new variety of a favorite plant each year.

It's necessary to put a limit on the number of new plants tried because the activity can quickly get out of hand.

The seed and plant trade introduces so many new items each year that no one person, trial garden or public garden can plant them all, nor should they want to.

Vegetables gardeners, primarily interested in vegetables, aren't likely to plant the new daylies while daily fanatics aren't likely to plant the new varieties.

Someone in Minnesota probably isn't going to plant a new Southern pea just as a traditional Mississippi gardener isn't likely to plant a new variety of Swiss chard.

Still, gardeners just by their nature like to know what are the new plants regardless of whether or not they plan on growing them.

Seed and plant catalogs are one of the best sources for discovering what's new in the industry. They make for interesting reading during these winter days when the opportunity and need for outside work are at the lowest points of their cycle.

Popular garden magazines are also great sources of information on new plants and varieties. Authors of such magazines discover the truth about them and their ability to perform.

This said, what's new for 1989 that sounds promising? The University of Florida developed a new heat tolerant tomato they've named Solar Set that is designed for summer planting and early fall harvest.

Developed for the Florida commercial tomato industry, this variety may spill over into the home garden trade with some benefits for fall gardeners. Asgrow Seed Company lists this variety.

Nourse Farms in South Deerfield, Mass., is offering seed of Jersey Giant asparagus an all-male hybrid developed by Rutgers University in New Jersey.

County Fair '87 is a pickling-type cucumber also good for slicing. Described as exceptionally productive, non-bitter and unattractive to wilt carrying zine articles maintain contact with the seed and plant companies and do the summarizing work for you by pulling together the new items from a large number of sources.

Novelties aren't major items in seed catalogs, but one 1989 catalog I saw contains a listing of a novelty item expressing a real sense of humor.

The variety Mystery, a new seedless watermelon, is So, don't be put off by the names or expect too much of King's Choice tomato, Lucky B carrot, Pickalot cucumber or Sweeter Bi Far sweet corn on the basis of name alone. You'll have to grow them in your garden.

cucumber beetles, the U.S. Department of Agriculture variety was developed by the late Clinton Peterson, my major professor while I was at Michigan State University. Park Seed Company in Greenwood, S.C., lists the variety in their catalog.

One of the many new flowering annuals that I plan on trying this year is the 1989 All America Selection impatiens Tango. This new hybrid is a New Guinea type impatiens from seed and is supposed to be more tolerant of heat and shade than the New Guinea impatiens we've seen so far.

Space, time and dollars to spend for seeds and plants are the limiting factors when it comes to trying new plants for 1989. The developers have provided us with an almost endless list to choose from. I'll write more about new plants in the weeks to come.

described as being of early maturity, average weight, perfect shape and resistant to making seed. "A seedless type that is so pure we don't have seed! Sorry!" Humor in a seed catalog; what's the world coming to?

From what I've seen, the Yuppy influence on vegetable introductions is evident; more salad veggies, more color, more foreign introduction with unpronounceable names and maybe better adaptation to northeastern states and California—recognized Yuppy centers.

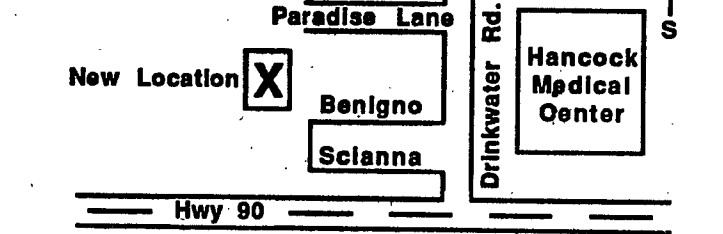

Imagine telling someone that you're trying Garrafal de Encarnada beans this year or that your lettuce is Grenoblaise and your squash is Zuchetta Rampicante. It sort of reminds me of superficial cocktail party small talk. However, like a boy named Sue, such variety names can be hard on otherwise excellent varieties.

How to assess your heart attack risk

Editor's note: This is the first of a three-part series on heart health in conjunction with February being American Heart Month.

Heart attack. The words have an unwelcome ring. Yet, the facts cannot be denied: heart attack is the leading cause of death in America, striking more than half a million people. Heart attacks, however, can be avoided.

"A heart attack results when coronary arteries are no longer able to supply the heart with enough blood," explained Ann Reisenbichler, cardiopulmonary specialist with Hancock Medical Center. "This is usually due to a buildup of fatty deposits which prevent blood flow through the heart's arteries."

Reisenbichler said the first step in prevention is knowing the risk factors. The following risk factors cannot be changed:

- * Family history of heart disease
- * If you are male, you are more at risk than female
- * Black Americans, due to higher occurrence of high blood pressure, are more at risk
- * Over age 65 your risk increases; for three of every four people who die of heart attack are in this group

"If you fit into any of the above categories, your chance of heart attack is increased," Reisenbichler said.

There are, however, other heart attack risk factors which you can change. To guard against a heart attack and reduce your risk of heart disease, Reisenbichler cited four controllable prevention tips:

1. Quit smoking. No matter how long or how much you have smoked, quitting will reduce your risk.
2. Control high blood pressure. High blood pressure is a major risk factor. Have your blood pressure checked regularly and follow physician's instructions.
3. Reduce cholesterol intake. This will also aid in controlling high blood pressure.
4. Keep your diabetes in check. Follow your doctor's instructions.

"Three other factors which contribute to a heart attack are obesity, lack of exercise and stress," Reisenbichler said. "Knowing the risk factors involved can help in assessing your heart attack risk and allow you to reduce your chances of having a heart attack."

Hancock Medical Center will host "Here's to Your Heart," a program featuring health care, diet and exercise professionals addressing healthy-heart issues.

Preventative care will be the focus of this program, which starts at 7 p.m. on Thursday, Feb. 9 in the hospital cafeteria. For more information about the program, call Hancock Medical Center at 467-9081 ext. 2225.

Developing a plan to help alter or eliminate your heart attack risk can be beneficial. For more information about heart disease or a specific prevention plan, see your doctor.

Former POW recounts experiences at Bay High

By BHS Correspondents
Christopher Heaps and Ana Maria Scafidi

The Reverend Bob Harper visited Bay High's American history classes on Jan. 5 to reflect on his experiences in World War II. Rev. Harper was a German prisoner of war for approximately one year.

FORMER POW— The Reverend Bob Harper speaks to Bay High's American history classes about his experiences in World War II. (BHS photo by Jenny Lee)

At the age of 18, Rev. Harper volunteered for active duty in the United States Army and had his plane shot down by German anti-aircraft guns 26 miles behind enemy lines about 1 a.m. on June 6, 1944, or D-Day. He and other paratroopers were captured by the Germans and placed in a prison camp. During his imprisonment, before being rescued by the 306th paratroop infantry, Rev. Harper was the victim of numerous war atrocities.

"Everybody thought it was a game, and it is a game, but it's a deadly game," remarked Rev. Harper when speaking about his attitude before he saw combat duty.

Upon returning home, Rev. Harper was married and now has six children and nine grandchildren. He looks back on his time as a POW with wisdom and proudly proclaims that if there happened to be another war, he would not hesitate to reenlist.

Rev. Harper began preaching a year ago and was ordained three months ago. In addition he says his numerous close encounters with death have brought him closer to the Lord. The Reverend will visit Bay High again on Feb. 14.

In conclusion, Rev. Harper was insistent in urging all young people to be patriotic, stay patriotic and most importantly "fight for peace."

LeBlanc honored by Yamaha

Sid LeBlanc of Jack's Marine Service, Bay St. Louis, was one of 178 Yamaha dealership sales personnel who received the Customer's Choice Awards for their efforts. Customer's Choice Award winners earned their recognition through product knowledge, sales training seminars and high sales levels, and were awarded an all-expense paid trip to Las Vegas, up to $3,500 in cash, and gold, silver or bronze desktop medallions.

"At Yamaha, we believe product knowledge is the cornerstone for success in sales," said Jack Malone, national sales manager for Yamaha. "Having all the salesmen in the same place gave each person a chance to share ideas and discuss selling strategies with people from across the country.

The 178 sales personnel and their guests spent a three-day weekend at the Bally's Hotel in Las Vegas and were treated to a western cookout in a ghost town outside the city.

well as the children, enjoy working with the "Grandpas".

The Headstart Center is not just for day care—a teaching program is implemented. The men plan lessons in basic spelling, reading and arithmetic skills, using a "fun" approach.

The program was the idea of Brother Canisius of St. Stanislaus. The first men he recruited volunteered on Tuesdays at the Child Development Center (and still do). Headstart was added as the roster of "Grandpas" began to grow.

"Senior citizens usually have free time, which is every individual's wealth. Project Grandpa is an interesting and rewarding program that offers retired seniors the opportunity to put this wealth to use," he said.

Brother Canisius is seeking volunteers who have free Wednesdays—to develop a similar program at the Methodist Children's Center. For information, call 467-9057.

MWF's 1989 Conservation Directory now available

The National Wildlife Federation (NWF) has released its 1989 Conservation Directory, the most comprehensive listing available of organizations, agencies, and officials concerned with natural resources.

This year's 331-page directory contains the names of more than 12,000 individuals and 2,000 organizations in the United States and 113 other countries. Federal and state officials, committees, and agencies, in addition to hundreds of citizens' groups, are listed.

Each entry includes the address and telephone number of the organization, as well as each organization's leaders.

The directory provides an index covering 68 environmental subject areas, from acid rain to zoology. Also, for the first time, the directory contains a publications index, listing the publications of citizens' groups and government agencies.

Among the lists in the directory are:

- * private, nonprofit conservation organizations;
- * U.S. and Canadian state and provincial fish and game administrators;
- * major colleges and universities offering professional training in conservation and environmental protection;
- * National Forests, Parks, Seashores, Wildlife Refuges, and Bureau of Land Management Districts;
- * conservation offices of foreign governments;
- * periodicals, directories, and sources of audio-visual materials;
- * state coordinators of environmental education agencies.

onmental education agencies.

The 1989 NWF Conservation Directory can be ordered by writing to: Conservation Directory, National Wildlife Federation, 1400 16th Street, N.W., Washington, DC 20036. The cost is $15 per book plus $3.25 for shipping charges per order, regardless of the number of books ordered.

The National Wildlife Federation is the nation's largest conservation organization, with more than 5.1 million members and supporters and 50 affiliate organizations nationwide. A private, not-for-profit organization, the federation was founded in 1936.
